Shot by a Physician. SARATOGA, N. Y., Sept. 18.—Harrisburg Lake was the scene yesterday of what will probably prove to be a fatal shoot-ing. Dr. H. M. Lincoln, of Wilton, Saratoga county, shot and, it is believed, mor tally wounded S. H. Nichols, the proprie tor of the hotel on the lake shore. shooting took place shortly after break-fast. Dr. Lincoln has been locked up. The prisoner, who has been addicted for years to the excessive use of morphine and stirgulants, has frequently alarmed his friends by his erratte conduct.

A Colored Girl's Tribute. CHESTER, Pa., Sept. 18.—A pathetic scene was witnessed in a local newspaper office yesterday. Miss Hettie Smallwood, a comely colored girl, called and left a comely colored girl, called and left a tribute to the lamented President McKin-ley. It was a cluster of wax flowers, beautifully arranged by the girl, who formerly lived in Washington, and knew the President personally. The token will be forwarded to the McKinley home at Canton.

A Boy Crushed by an Elevator. BRISTOL, Pa., Sept. 18.-Albert Harple was crushed to death yesterday by an elevator at the mills of William H. Grundv & Co. The boy started the elevator, then attempted to jump on. While trying to clamber into the car, his head and chest were caught between the floor of the elevator and the ceiling. The coroner's jury found that death was caused by the boy's carelessness.

"This disease was first observed in America about the year 1850, where it apeared in New York with great virulence n Germany the first observations wernade in 1865. In Denmark it has appear d annually since 1852. In the year 1876 it xisted in an epizootic state in Egypt, and in Cairo and its suburbs it caused the oat, and dog. It is most frequently seen a the horse and sheep. Young animals, specially lambs, wethers, and strong olts, are predisposed to it; yet age grant no immunity. It may occur sporadically, but usually appears as an enzooty in a stable, city or farming district, and may or may not be localized, but may spread over an extended area, along rivers, valvs, or mountains, entailing great loss in

"Among the predisposing causes may be nentioned bad drainage, low, swampy laces frequently seen in stables situated streets which have no drainage, sta

"The prognosis is grave, as the percentage of deaths is always great.

"The termination is usually death and in a majority of the cases results from the profound coma. They may also die of starvation, for in certain conditions it is impossible to feed them.

"In the brain and spinal cord we find a serous, yellowish, and turbid liquid or fibrino-purulent exudate which is milky or yellowish grey. In some cases the nerve roots are entirely surrounded by purulent exudate. The superficial layer of the brain and of the spinal cord is at times and the spinal cord is at times and the spinal cord is at times and the spinal cord. Blood may be black and non-coagulable, liver may be softened and of a clay color. If the horse has been in a recumbent position for any length of time we will find all the alterations of congestions of the lungs. No essential alteration is to be found in the heart or its membranes. May find catarrhal lesions of intestines.

"The treatment on the whole is quite unsatisfactory. When first taken the horse should be placed in slings and a prompt eathartic, say one ounce of powdered aloes, should be given in half a pint of water. If the head and its region are hot lee bags should be given in half a pint of water. If the head and its region are hot lee bags should be given in half a pint of water may be given every four hours. If the extremities are cold they should be briskly rubbed and bandaged. If the surface of the body is cold it should be well brushed, rubbed, and blanketed. Oatmeal gruel should be given in a little water every four or six hours. Two to four every four or six hours. Two to four drachms of sulphate of quinine may be every four or six hours.
